

OFFICERS COULD NOT FIND GUN

Shot Gun Used by George Watkins in Killing William Brown is Still Concealed in Brush.

Under Sheriff Tunis H. Haulenbeck and a posse who searched the underbrush in the vicinity of the Staples brick yard at Malden on Thursday afternoon were unable to find the shot gun which was used by George Watkins, the negro who shot and killed William Brown, another negro, at the brick yard on Tuesday morning.

Watkins had told the officials Thursday morning that he had thrown away his gun in the underbrush after traveling for some distance from the scene of the shooting. To the best of his recollection, Watkins said the place where he discarded the shot gun was about a mile from the brickyard. He had laid it down carefully, he said, in some heavy underbrush alongside the path which he had followed after leaving the brick yard property.

Under Sheriff Haulenbeck and his assistants followed the path from the brick yard property through the brush for some distance when they came to a fork, from which one path led to the river and another path led to the upland. Watkins said he had kept away from the river, so the officers followed the upper path. As they proceeded, the path branched again, and these in turn branched again, and were crossed by other paths. Most of the paths were well defined but in many places the underbrush was so dense that they could proceed only in the slowest fashion. Searching the dense clumps of underbrush alongside the paths was extremely difficult.

After traveling paths for more than a mile, the party returned through the brush to the starting point, following new routes most of the way and continuing the search for the gun. They were unable to locate it, however, but will continue the search later.

The weapon used by Watkins in killing Brown was a single barreled shot gun which he bought at Lang's sporting goods store in Saugerties on Tuesday morning, and after making the purchase Watkins went almost directly to the brickyard and shot his companion. To various people in the vicinity, Watkins said during the morning that he intended to kill Brown, which was regarded simply as a boast talk, and also that he intended to hunt woodchucks and to hunt cats.

The search for Watkins, which was conducted by Sheriff Smith and his deputies, by constables of the town of Saugerties and by state troopers who had been sent to Malden from Albany, was most thorough. Barns, school houses, outbuildings and vacant houses all were searched by officers, and even the dense electrical storm of the afternoon did not deter the searchers who became drenched. From the fact that Watkins' wife's family reside at Coxsack and that he had spent much time there during the past few years, it was supposed he would attempt to reach that place and the surmise was correct, because it was on the outskirts of Coxsack that he was captured by Alonzo Van Bergen took place.

District Attorney Traver again studied the scene of the shooting on Thursday for the purpose of getting additional information. The arraignment of Watkins before a Police Justice Chidester will take place at Saugerties on Monday.

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Barium, formerly of Kingston, passed through this city on Thursday on their way to Woodstock, where they will spend several weeks. Dr. Barium left town over three weeks ago and served in the United States army for nearly two years. About a year he was stationed at Russia, and then went to Manila, Philippine Islands, where he has established a practice and where he intends to locate in the future. He speaks most enthusiastically of the climate and of the opportunities afforded Americans in the islands. When questioned about his experiences in Russia, the doctor said that during his stay there through one winter, the thermometer registered 68 degrees below zero for one entire week.

Before leaving for the far east, Dr. and Mrs. Barium will visit friends and relatives in Kingston.

Ex-Serviceman. Every serviceman in a mood of profound depression must report to the district vocational office at Kingston by July 15 unless he does not wish to share in the preference afforded in the deficiency appropriation bill passed by congress. By a bill, according to the committee, to disabled veterans of which Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of war is chairman, the servicemen who are taking vocational training above maintenance and support is above the average and "exceptionally high" may receive an additional allowance of $24 per month to help solve their own high cost of living problem.

TEXT OF LEAGUE AND IRISH PLANKS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

San Francisco, July 2.—The vital section of the League of Nations plank as adopted by the committee on resolutions with the final phrase added by the amendment of Senator Walsh of Massachusetts reads:

We endorse the president's view of our international obligations and commend Democrats in congress for voting against reservations designed to cut to pieces the vital provisions of the Versailles treaty and against resolutions for a separate peace which would disgrace the nation. We advocate prompt ratification of the treaty without reservations which would impair its essential integrity. We do not oppose reservations which would make more clear or specific our obligations to the associated nations.

The Irish Plank.

Under a plank adopted by the platform committee, the Democratic party would express sympathy with the aspirations of the Irish people for self-government, and pledge such action in the matter as would be consistent with international comity and usage.

The action was taken after a long debate, during which the committee rejected the sub-committee plank proposing to leave the question to the League of Nations and voted down the proposal for plank pledging diplomatic recognition of the Irish Republic.

TEENIS COURT RULES

For Forsyth Park Should Be Amended Says Writer.

Kingston, N. Y., July 2, 1920.

Editor "Freeman."

Roundout, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

Will you kindly allow me a small amount of space in your valuable paper for the following:

Under the new ruling made by the board of public works, no one under eighteen years of age is allowed on the tennis court in Forsyth's Park after seven o'clock.

This to me does not seem quite the right treatment for boys sixteen years of age or over. There are about two thousand boys between the years of sixteen and eighteen in this city who are employed throughout the day and are then unable to use the tennis court. Coming home after a hard day's work they wish a little recreation playing tennis and cannot play on account of these rulings. It seems to me the proper thing to do would be to amend the rules making the age sixteen instead of eighteen.

Thanking you in advance for your trouble, I remain,

THE PROTESTER.

Salvation Army Meeting.

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock a very special meeting will be held at the Salvation Army Hall on North Front street. Two real live baby boys will be "given away" during the service. There will be a public swearing in of soldiers which is in itself a very interesting service, when each soldier-to-be has signed, which he read and a charge given. The army flag and symbols are explained and there are other interesting features. The two main events of the night are dedicating two infants and swearing in three recruits as soldiers and one as a junior soldier.

The band will be on hand and furnish the music for the singing. The band is practicing each week and it is now a pleasure to listen to their efforts during the service.

There will be a short open air service at the corner of Wall and North Front streets at 7:30 p. m.

Moderns Will Celebrate.

Moderns has planned a big celebration for Independence Day. There will be music, speaking, refreshments and good entertainment generally. A prominent feature of the afternoon will be Malcolm Shakerford, the popular impersonator. A good committee is in charge and is giving full attention to all details. It will be a big day for Moderns.

DUFFY JAZZED JAZZ ORCHESTRA OF JAZZ DOLLARS

Duffy, Better Known as Jean LaMar, Gives Striking Example of How to Take a Flyer in Music, But in Doing It Strands Orchestra Here.

Five New York jazz artists stranded in Kingston this morning will not forget William J. Duffy, 21 years old, in a hurry, and back of that lies an interesting yarn of "Billy's" flyer in music, which did not pan out just as he expected. "Billy's" business cards bear the name of Jean LaMar, which is his dancing name, as he explained.

To get down to the story a few days ago Jean LaMar paid a flying visit to New York city and had an interview with A. L. Lipskin, a cornet player, at the Musicians' Union headquarters on 56th street. At that time Jean signed a contract, which Lipskin explained to Judge Schirick this morning in police court, which calls for a series of concerts for which each of the five jazz artists were to receive $30 a week and their rooms and board.

Such a contract appealed to the artistic soul of Mr. Lipskin and he signed up B. Glaser, violinist; I. Pedersky, cellist; Mr. Schuman, drummer, and Miss Baritz, a charming young lady pianist. The jazz orchestra, which was to be known throughout the city as LaMar's Jazz Orchestra, left New York city, with light hearts and it may be added light purses.

They paid their own car fare as far as Poughkeepsie on the train, but missed connections in getting to Kingston. That did not matter, however, as LaMar met them at the Bridge City, and chartered an automobile of Albert Hunter of No. 40 South Perry street to convey them to Saugerties, where a dance was to be staged, according to LaMar, in Columbus Hall. The price for conveying the orchestra from Poughkeepsie to Saugerties was $25.

They got to Saugerties two hours too late to hold a dance, and so came back to Kingston.

What happened then led to the appearance of the orchestra and Mr. Hunter at police headquarters this morning.

To get to the main thread of the yarn as told to Judge Schirick when they reached Kingston they intended at first to put up at the Kingston Hotel, but LaMar's earlier financial transactions at that hotel made them not wanted unless spot cash was paid.

The orchestra under LaMar's direction were then headed down Broadway to Pessenar's Hotel on Railroad avenue.

On the way down Mr. LaMar explained that his finances were rather low, and told Mr. Hunter he would pay him in the morning when the bank opened. He then turned to the orchestra and inquired pleasantly if they had any loose change they could loan him until the bank opened.

The jazz orchestra dug into their pockets but all they could produce was $22. That was sufficient, however, to pay for their room for the night at Pessenar's Hotel, but it did not cover the cost of luncheon which they claimed LaMar ordered for the party, and which came to $5.

This morning the orchestra woke up with light purses, empty stomachs, and a bill for $5 for the luncheon. The hotel proprietor refused to release the instruments of the orchestra until he had received his $5 for the luncheon.

Penniless and stranded in a strange town, they decided the best they could do was to call at police headquarters. The orchestra were turned over to Judge Schirick, and he sent for LaMar who responded when the invitation was extended to him by an officer.

LaMar or Duffy, which is his right name, explained to Judge Schirick, how it all happened. He said that the reason he was strapped for money was because they had got to Saugerties too late to hold the dance. If he would have been back with money, the dance had been held as planned.

The orchestra announced that they were willing to withdraw the charge against Billy if he "came across with the cash." Mr. Hunter was also willing as long as he received his $25 taxi fare.

Judge Schirick informed Duffy that he would have to make good the amount he owed—$52—or he would issue a warrant for his arrest. Duffy got in touch with relatives and it is understood that the matter was finally straightened out, and the orchestra returned to New York wiser for their little experience in Duffy's musical flyer.

NEW TEAM TO PLAY FIRST GAME

Kingston Club Will Meet Crescent A. C. Players of Newburgh on Fair Grounds Saturday Afternoon—Two Good Pitchers, Secured.

The newly organized Kingston baseball team will play its first home game Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock when it will cross bats with the fast Crescent A. C. team of Newburgh, on the Kingston Fair Grounds, Inc., at the head of North Front street and Washington avenue.

Although the diamond is far from being completed it will be in such condition that the game may be played there. When the diamond is completed it will be one of the best in the city.

There will be plenty of parking space for cars near the diamond, with a good entrance from the street.

Although the team is going up against a fast aggregation of players for their first home game there is every hope that they will come out winners and break the winning streak of five straight of the Newburghs. Captain Kearney has had a large list to choose his team from and even after the team was selected there was some good material left over. In some of the positions there is even yet doubt as to who will fill them.

Tickets for the game were placed on sale last evening and the indications are that there will be a good crowd to witness same. The fans of the city who have been clamoring for a baseball team will be given an opportunity to support one now. The twenty-five cent admission charged will scarcely pay the guarantee which was necessary in order to bring the Newburgh players here. The admission will be in the form of a tag which will be kept in sight so that supporters of the team who pay their admission may be known. As there is no fence around the field this method of admission was decided upon.

The Kingston team has been especially fortunate in securing two of the best pitchers for their opening game. Fred Stout and Dewey Van Buren have both been signed up and one or the other will curve the first ball over the plate tomorrow.

Jack McMahon or Ed Schronmaker will be on the receiving end while Captain Peter Kearney will cover the first sack. Ken Hornbeck will be over on third and the second sack will be held down by either H. Coffey or "Kid" Moore. Mike Keegan will scoop up the fast ones which come in the neighborhood of the short stop.

The three men out in the garden will be selected from a list of four who have made good. Just which three will be selected will not be definitely known until just before the game, but the outfield will be taken care of in good shape with the following four men to select from: Claude Davis, Tom Kelley, Harry Bruck and Arthur Dietz.

WATER BILLS ARE NOW DUE

The water department is now sending out the bills for the third quarter which must be paid by July 20, or fines will be levied. There have been a number of real estate changes in Kingston since the last water bills were sent out, and some of the new property owners do not realize that the water bill must be paid within a certain time without a penalty being attached.

The water board have a list of persons who have been reported as using a hose without first obtaining a permit. Under the regulations of the board no person shall use city water through hose for sprinkling streets and lawns or for other purposes without first obtaining the necessary permit. Water service will be shut off where the rule is violated.

FOUR DECK HANDS PAY FOR FUN

Frank Tompkins, Leroy Shaffer, Joseph Gurnack and Irving Pearsall, four of the crew of the Cornell line tug Meade, undergoing repairs at the Cornell shops, were arrested in their banks on board the tug shortly after 1 o'clock this morning by Officers Reardon and Burger. They were charged with disorderly conduct in knocking down the iron cop on the Strand and making a nuisance of themselves. They all pleaded guilty and were fined $3 each.

Edwin McWhite of New York city, a shell shock victim of the world war, and Jean Bartrane, also of New York, were arrested Thursday night by Officer Martin on a charge of loitering around the West Shore station. When arrested they had a box filled with various home remedies, such as liniment and pills in their possession. A bottle filled with Jamaica ginger was also found but had been emptied by the two who drank the contents.

This morning in police court they denied all ownership of the box, stating they found it on a bench at the station and were looking it over when arrested.

Both had been working in a summer resort at Fleischmanns as waiters, but the work proved too hard and they were on their way back to New York. McWhite proved he had been in service and showed his discharge papers, on which it was stated he had been shell shocked. He claimed the physician in New York has told him he should have stimulants and that was why he drank the ginger.

Judge Schirick discharged them. Daniel J. McNamara of Montclair, N. J., was arrested Thursday for speeding by Officer Soper and gave cash bail for his appearance later.

ANYONE HAS CHANCE AS DEMS. CONVENE TODAY

But McAdoo Still Is Favorite and His Campaign Is Now In The Open—Balloting To Start When Bryan Is Squelched.

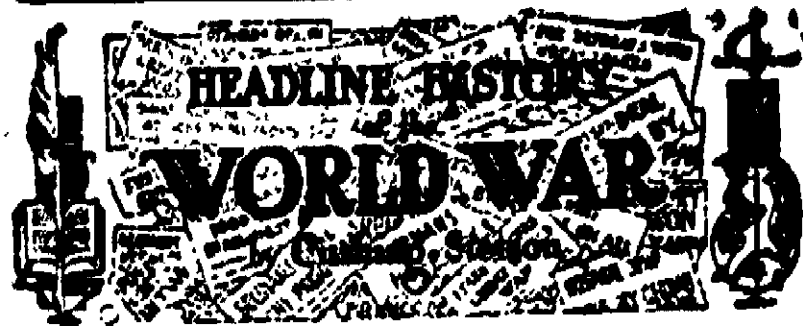

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Auditorium, San Francisco, July 2.—The Democratic national convention, called an hour sooner than usual, is thrashing out the final platform questions and there's heat in the squabble, but that story was told when the committee formally presented its draft to the assemblage and the high voltage excitement of the delegates now concerns the personalities of the presidential and vice-presidential nominees.

Presently the harrowing will start. Fourteen names are before the Democrats, not counting that of Vice-President Marshall, who declined to permit formal use of his name, but he will get Indiana's solid 30 on the first ballot.

No man has the fight cinched. Any avowed candidate may be selected or all may be forced to stand back in favor of one using in nomination oratory. The floor is thick with claims and counter claims, but political prophesy is cheap and entertaining. After two or more ballots have been taken, probably late this afternoon, sensible estimates can be made of the respective strength of the candidates.

William Gibbs McAdoo's position is about the same as during yesterday. He doesn't possess a two thirds majority, but he is the leader of the pack. He will begin to show his actual strength on the third ballot. Many sincere and capable political observers are convinced that he can not secure the necessary two thirds majority.

Awful Possibility.

Edward was talking cannibals to his sister. Rather frightened, the little sister said: "Oh, I hope they don't come here. If they do, they'd eaten us up and then we won't have ourselves."

No Sugar

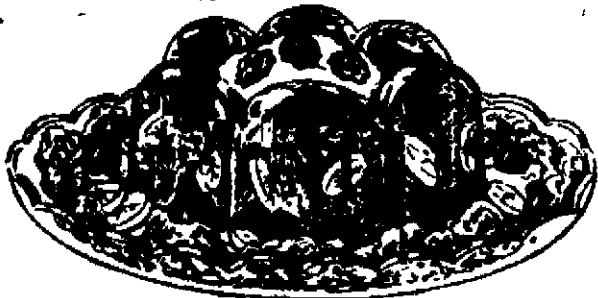

Required for Jiffy-Jell Desserts

They come ready-sweetened. They come acidulated with pure fruit acid, made from lemons or from grapes.

A bottle of liquid fruit flavor comes in each package. We crush the fruit, condense the juice and seal it in a bottle. So Jiffy-Jell is a real-fruit dainty, rich in fruit.

Simply add boiling water as directed on package, then the fruit essence from the bottle, and let cool.

If you used fresh fruit, plus a lot of sugar, you could make nothing more delicious.

Serves six—at trifling cost

One package of Jiffy-Jell serves six in mold form, or twelve if you whip the jell. And the fruit alone which we use in it would cost you more than the whole dessert.

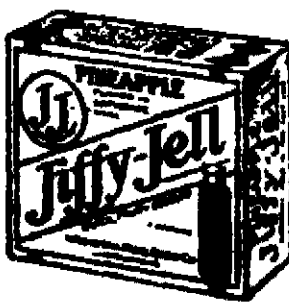

Jiffy-Jell

Real-Fruit Desserts

Ten Flavors in Glass Vials

A bottle like this in each package

Mint Lime Cherry Raspberry Logberry Strawberry Pineapple Orange Lemon Coffee

Be sure to get this package from your grocer, for Jiffy-Jell is the only dessert with these liquid fruit flavors in vials.

WASTE OF WATER, TALK AND CURRENT

New York Now Drawing 80 Per Cent More Water From Esopus Watershed Than Estimated Supply—Little Use for "Juice" Generated at Gate House Where Questions of Visitors Try Strong Men.

The Catskill aqueduct is now carrying 280,000,000 gallons of water each day from the Ashokan reservoir to New York city, which is a trifle more than 75 per cent of its capacity. Originally it was estimated that the Esopus watershed would furnish 250,000,000 gallons a day, one-half of the capacity of the aqueduct and that eventually the Schoharie would furnish 125,000,000 and the Rondout another 125,000,000, the total making up the full capacity of the aqueduct. The needs of the city have become so great that the Esopus is now being drawn upon for 50 per cent more than it was originally estimated it could furnish, and more than it probably can supply in seasons of prolonged drought.

The gate house, on the site of the former village of Brown's Station, no trace of which remains except a row of maples that fronted a fine residence, is equipped with machinery for generating electric current by the power of the water, which has a head of nearly 70 feet as it is drawn from the reservoir to be conveyed to the aerating basin. Only one of these generators is working and most of the current it produces is wasted, none being utilized except for lighting the buildings and occasionally for operating another generator of equal size, is idle as no use has been found for the current, although a market surely could be found in Kingston it not in nearer villages. Even the houses owned by New York city and occupied by its employees have not been wired for electricity although the current could be had without cost.

Visitors to the aerating basin and gate house are numerous and of an inquiring turn of mind. Many seem obsessed with the notion that the gate house and aerating basin contain some kind of a sterilizing plant and the questions they ask on this theory are gradually but surely driving those who have to listen to them in the direction of Middletown.

The "Wise Guy" is usually with each party of visitors, full of "information" which he spills freely. "Sure, they sterilize the water, don't you see the stream," he replied scornfully to a question, pointing to the mist above the aerating basin. Then the whole crowd wanted to know how it was done, why it was done, how many pipes there were in the aerating basin, why the pipes were not all alike, how high they threw the water, how long it took for the water to reach New York, how deep the reservoir is, how much it holds, how much it cost, how much the gate house attendants are paid, if they like the work, who struck Billy Patterson and how old is Ann?

A visitor who had not asked any questions, just listened, caught the attendants in one lie. They said the new building across the road is to be a garage. The visitor does not believe them. He believes the new building is to be divided into sound proof padded cells in which the city employees will be confined until they have recovered from the effects of trying to answer all the foolish questions visitors ask of them.

PROBLEM PUZZLED CITY HALL FORCE

How Much Profit Is There in a Ham Sandwich? Proves Hard Problem For Those Who Tackled It—By Page Ham Lloyd.

Back in the days before the war a ham sandwich sold for five cents, but since the war the same sandwich sells for ten cents in some lunch rooms, and that fact led to the propounding of what proved to be a puzzling problem at the city hall this morning. The fact that ham that formerly sold at thirty cents a pound now sells for sixty cents was taken into consideration, and according to some of the experts the profits today are the same as in the old days.

For instance one expert solved the problem in this way. He said that five years ago the nickel sandwich filled with ham cost 30 cents, and today it costs 60 cents. In other words the "ham what ain't" doubled in price, but then the price of the sandwich also doubled, and instead of five cents now costs a dime. He figured that in other words the lunch room proprietor was making the same profit.

That looks reasonable on the face of it, but the complexion of the problem changed when another expert took the matter in hand, proved according to his figures that the ten cent sandwich made for a bigger profit than the nickel sandwich.

This expert figures it this way. The nickel sandwich yielded a cent profit on each sandwich. In other words the material that went into the sandwich cost the proprietor just four cents. Now taking it for granted that the same material had doubled in price and cost 8 cents it would show a profit of two cents on each sandwich, would it not?

The expert figured that one hundred nickel sandwiches yielded a profit of $1 while the same 100 sandwiches at ten cents yielded a profit of $2. Take a pencil and paper and figure it out for yourself, he urged.

Both experts stuck to their guns, and neither would yield a figure. At last reports the problem was to be presented to the class in arithmetic at high school, until it was brought out that the class were now enjoying the annual summer vacation.

The Freeman expert on figures said it was too hot to attempt the problem, and he did not care anyway as he never ate ham sandwiches.

DAY LINE BOATS HOLIDAY SERVICE

In order to handle the heavy traffic which will be bound mountainward the Hudson River Day Line will operate all of its steamers during the Independence Day holiday season. Beside the regular trips there will be several special trips up the river on July 3rd, 4th and 5th with special short trips up the river and back for those who wish a single day's outing. Three boats will leave New York Saturday to handle the heavy traffic. The regular steamer will leave New York downtown at 8:40 with the special Poughkeepsie boat leaving an hour later. The Hendrick Hudson will leave in the afternoon, arriving at Kingston Point at 7:30 o'clock and continuing to Catskill. Sunday the regular trip will be made by the Robert Fulton and the Albany will make the special trip to Poughkeepsie. Monday the Albany will make the regular trip to Albany, omitting the Bear Mountain, West Point and Newburgh stops. The Washington Irving leaving New York at 9:40 from Desbrosses street will run up to Kingston Point making all stops north of Bear Mountain. The Irving will remain at the Point half an hour and return to New York. The Hendrick Hudson will make the Poughkeepsie trip Monday. Southbound the Robert Fulton will make the through trip Saturday and the Albany will take the Poughkeepsie run. Sunday the Hendrick Hudson will leave Catskill at 11:15 making the Point at 12:40. The Washington Irving through from Albany, leaving the Point at 12:40. The Hendrick Hudson will run south from Poughkeepsie. The Washington Irving will bring up an excursion from New York to the Point and will leave again for the return trip to New York at 4 o'clock. The Robert Fulton will run Monday from Bear Mountain to New York, leaving Bear Mountain at 8:30 p. m. A special time-table has been issued by the Day Line from which several trips for the week end might be arranged. The observation of Independence Day on Monday following the 4th, makes another three holiday vacation such as on Memorial Day when the Day Line did the biggest week end business since it was started. The coming holiday promises to be even more of an attraction for city people to get out into the country for a few days.

MAYORS OF STATE MEET NEXT WEEK

Arrangements have been completed for the eleventh meeting of the New York state conference of Mayors, of which Mayor Canfield is a leading member, and other city officials in Jamestown, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week. State and national officials have been invited to address the conference. Governor Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, Republican nominee for vice president, is slated to speak on "Law Enforcement" Tuesday night, although he has not given his final answer to the invitation. Acting Governor Harry C. Walker and Jesse S. Phillips, state insurance superintendent, are other speakers at the dinner to be given that night by the city of Jamestown.

Former Mayor Walter R. Stone of Syracuse, president, will make the opening address Tuesday morning. Others scheduled to speak are State Tax Commissioner Michael J. Walsh, Robert R. Reed of New York city, Mayor F. Hancock of Syracuse, Comptroller Charles L. Craig of New York city, Ross Graves, commissioner of finance of Buffalo; Herbert S. Owen, city planning expert; and Dr. J. F. Lewis of the prison association of New York.

City Engineer Alfred E. Koche of Troy will preside at the conference of city engineers Tuesday afternoon, when Frederick S. Greene, state highway commissioner, and Theodore Horton, of the state health department, will be the speakers.

David E. Pugh of Albany will speak on "The City Clerk" at the City Clerks' Association meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. Matthias Nicoll, Jr., deputy state health commissioner, and Homer Folke, assistant manager of the American Red Cross, will be the principal speakers at the conference of city health officials Wednesday.

It is said Mayor William J. Wallin of Yonkers is the only candidate for president. A successor will also be chosen to James D. Smith of Utica, vice president, who is now state tax commissioner. It is believed Mayor Watt of Albany will be re-elected treasurer.

PIANO RECITAL
FROM MEMORY

A June recital given by the piano pupils of Miss Ethel Mauterstock, in the lower decorated chapel of the Trinity M. E. Church on Wednesday evening, drew a large audience of delighted friends and relatives of the pupils. The entire program was played from memory and it was well noted that the pupils, one and all produced a round, musical tone in their playing and their interpretation of their numbers was excellent. The first numbers on the program were played by the more youthful musicians, and well played, the more mature performers bringing the enjoyable program to a close. Several of the pupils showed marked talent. Throughout the evening the program was varied by readings which were also greatly appreciated. The first reading, "The Happy Family," by Waterman, was given splendidly by little six-and-a-half year old Dorothy Kline. Miss Sadie Arnet's reading, "Lessons in Cookery," delighted the audience, and recalling Joseph Block's past successes it was a foregone conclusion that his reading of Riley's lovely "Knee Deep in June," would be as delightful as it was. As Miss Cassler was unable to be present, Miss Mauterstock herself gave a truly artistic reading of Goethe's "The Erl King."

The program in full was as follows:
 Duet—Impromptu Valse.....Bachmann
 Kathryn Monroe, Jacquelyn Monroe.
 Moonbeam's Lullaby.....Krogmann
 Hilda Longendyke.
 The Tin Soldier.....Hach
 George Pratt.
 Sweet Violet.....Smallwood

LET SUGAR WAIT

Important to Conserve Fruit by Use of Sweetless Canning, or by Drying, Say State Experts.

The cherry crop is abundant this year and even though little or no sugar is available the cherries may be preserved successfully without sugar, says the state college of agriculture at Ithaca.

In canning cherries by the cold pack method pack jars with fruit, add boiling water to fill the jars and cook them in boiling water or steam for 30 minutes, say the Cornell workers in home economics. With the open kettle method, cook the cherries in the least possible amount of water until they are tender, pack them into hot jars and seal them at once.

Dried cherries are as good as raisins or currants in puddings, breads, or cereals; if soaked over night in cold water and then stewed they make an excellent sauce. For drying, the cherries should be washed and spread the cherries in a thin layer on plates or platters. Steam them for ten minutes then dry them slowly in the oven, or on the stove shelf, or in the sun, protecting them from dust. When they are about as dry as the commercial currants or raisins pack them into moisture proof containers.

Cherry juice is excellent for use in beverages, puddings, sauces and gelatin desserts. Several quarts of cherries may be stored in bottles for later use by this method. Cover the cherries with enough cold water to allow them to float. Simmer them until they are soft and have lost their bright color; strain the juice as in jelly making. Boil the juice for three minutes, skim it and pour it into hot sterilized jars or bottles and seal them. If bottles are used the corks should also be boiled for 15 minutes. After the cork is adjusted, the top of the bottle should be dipped in melted paraffin.

THE DOWNTOWN DRY GOODS STORE

26 Broadway, Cor. Mill Street

Spending a few weeks in Saugerties. Sunday evening last. Those present from Kingston were Mrs. C. N. Hall, Mrs. Mary Hall, Miss Rose Burns, Mrs. Seaton, mother of Miss Seaton, Mrs. Kearney, Edwin Moore, Mrs. Calvin Cole, Miss Helen Cole, Herbert Cole, Mrs. Alex Smith and Miss Amy Smith. The exercises were much enjoyed. Miss Seaton received a number of pretty gifts.

According to the usual custom the anniversary of the birth of Miss Mary Hall, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Charles Martin Hall, was celebrated in a party at Rosemont June 25th. Mrs. Hall was the recipient of numerous "birthdays" gifts. The following enjoyed the happy occasion. Father, Charles, the Hall Cross Church, Kingston, N. Y. J. Murphy and little son, Nat Seaton, Thomas Seaton, Nat Seaton, Parker Seaton, Orval Seaton, Jennie Smith and Nat Smith. Miss Hall (as is the past) made each guest happy with a pretty token accompanied by a box of delicious candy.

Be Trustful Always.

He that is habituated to deception and artifice is to be feared, with him it is to be true in matters of importance; for truth is a thing of itself, rather than of will. You cannot in any sudden and single effort will to be true if the habit of truth has been abandoned.—F. W. Robertson.
